

HEEL IT

If you like a good statement heel, then these new Marc Jacobs patchwork heels may be the shoe for you. Made of python, suede, raw edging, leather, stitching and an impressive architectural heel, they are very much pieces of art made to be adored. Marc Jacobs patchwork heels, $1500, from Mei Mei, ph (09) 376 0201.

BUY IT

Every time we look at this stool we're reminded of the tooth fairy and painful visits to the dentist. Placing the "wisdom tooth" stool, designed by Yasu Sasamoto for Dulton, in your home will certainly get visitors talking. It looks pretty cool too. Wisdom tooth stool, $279, from Republic Home, ph (09) 361 1137.

WRITE IT

In the age of email and text messaging, there's something incredibly charming and thoughtful about receiving a handwritten note — and it's even better when it's on beautiful stationery. Local fine stationers Rawlence & Horton have launched the understated new "diamond monogram" range, which features 10 monogrammed cards and envelopes made of luxurious thick, 100 per cent recycled card. They can even personalise them if you wish. Rawlence & Horton monogram set, $30, ph (09) 522 5362, www.rawlenceandhorton.com.

PIN IT

We like quirky jewellery that makes people smile — like this brooch from Melbourne jewellery label Elk. Made from wood and stainless steel, the cute brooch is part of the full range available now at Scenario in Devonport. And it's only $39.90, making it a perfect cheapie gift. Elk "Toady" pin, $39.90, from Scenario Devonport, ph (09) 446 3265.

WEAR IT

If you're in high school we're sure you already realise that it's ball season — you may have even had your gown planned for months. But if not, may we suggest this dress from Sera Lilly? We like its simplicity; as we're definitely not fans of frou-frou, over-the-top gowns. Sera Lilly ball gown, $520, ph (09) 360 6994.
